

CAGING THE BEAR: IMAGES OF THE RAF DURING THE COLD WAR

Imperial War Museum, London
28 APRIL 2010, 13:00

1. The Chairman of the Board of Trustees, Air Chief Marshal Sir Peter Squire would like to invite members of your association to a seminar 'Caging the Bear: Images of the RAF during the Cold War', at the Imperial War Museum, Lambeth Road, London on the afternoon of 28th April 2010.
2. Timings and subjects covered in the seminar are detailed below.
3. This invitation is extended to any member of your association who may be interested in attending and served between the years 1955 and 1970. Due to the capacity of the venue, attendance will be based on a first come, first served basis, but may be adjusted to ensure a good spread of expertise
4. Those wishing to attend should reply no later than 14 April 2010.

1300 - 1330	Registration and Refreshments
1330 - 1340	Welcome and Introduction: ACM Sir Peter Squire, Chairman of the Trustees and Mark Whitmore, Director of Collections
1340 - 1400	Introduction to the Project
1400 - 1530	Session One: Tools, Trades, Tasks This session is designed to encourage delegates to talk about their work in the different trades and branches of the RAF.
1530 - 1600	Coffee / Tea
1600 - 1730	Session Two: Learning, Leisure, Life This session will concentrate on the life experienced by the servicemen and women in the RAF of the period, from recruitment to retirement.

Please notify Ian Proctor of intent to attend

Ian Proctor
Curator
IWM Photograph Archive
Lambeth Road
London
SE1 6HZ

IProctor@IWM.org.uk
Tel: 0207 416 5333

Tel Dir: 0207 416 5473

Disabled Access to the building

The main entrance is 50 metres from Lambeth Road on a tarmac path through the park. There are 10 steps leading to the front door and a further three steps once inside the building. Step-free access is through the Park Entrance, 50 metres along a tarmac path to the right of the building. Follow the signs or ask a member of staff for assistance.

Nearest tube stations

Lambeth North (Bakerloo Line)
Waterloo (Bakerloo, Northern, Jubilee Line)
Southwark (Jubilee Line)
Elephant & Castle (Bakerloo, Northern Line)

Note: Only the Jubilee Line stations at Waterloo and Southwark are step-free. Lambeth North, other lines at Waterloo and Elephant & Castle are not step-free.

Nearest train stations

Waterloo
Elephant & Castle

Note: Elephant & Castle is not step-free

Bus

1, 3, 12, 45, 53, 59, 63, 68, 100, 159, 168, 171, 172, 176, 188, 344, 360, 453, C10

Car

Limited meter parking on Lambeth Road.

A limited number of parking spaces for visitors with disabilities is available at the rear of the Museum. To book a space please call 020 7416 5000.

Please note: the Imperial War Museum London is situated inside the London Congestion Charge zone. Driving within the zone will incur a daily charge of £8.00.